

NEWS ALERT

Cortec® Provides New Website for Water Treatment Solutions.

Cortec® Corporation, the global leader in Total Corrosion Control, announces the introduction of its new website -- www.cortecwatertreatment.com. The new site is designed to educate and assist customers seeking water treatment solutions and resources to combat the effects of corrosion, scale, and contaminants.

Boris Miksic, Cortec® Corporation President/CEO, said "Our objective in launching this new site is to help our customers easily obtain information about our complete water treatment solutions and services. We wanted to release a site that would be an accessible tool for customers seeking solutions to their corrosion problems."

www.CortecWaterTreatment.com

The site provides information describing Cortec's technology, processes, applications, and markets served. You can quickly explore our applications by market and understand the technology behind our solutions. Information and resources will be frequently supplemented to continually enhance the knowledge and service provided to our customers. Visit www.cortecwatertreatment.com to learn more about our solutions.